Introduction. . .

Welcome to Campbellsville University. We have experienced several changes this year. We dedicated the new Gosser Fine Arts Center in the fall of 1998. The Gosser Fine Arts Center houses the Gheens Recital Hall for junior and senior recitals, guest performances and those by music students, as well as those who enjoy a great musical performance.

The new addition to the science building was completed in the fall of 1998. The project provided more lab space for the growing number of enrolled students. With an enrollment of 1,660 students, the space is needed and will benefit those in the science department.

The Press Box received a face lift this year. Sitting high above the football field, the press box allows more coverage of the games against our opposing teams. The box also has a special presidential box, where Dr. Kenneth W. Winters and his wife, Shirley, can entertain friends, alumni and others while watching the games. The press box was made possible by a gift from Joe and Susan Walters.

A new sidewalk was installed at the entrance to the Alumni Building with construction taking place in the fall of 1998.

The Post Office and Print Shop made room for the growing number of students. Steve Giles added more post office boxes to accommodate the students' incoming mail.

The campus is continually changing and growing for new students to experience the mark that has been left by previous students and for the rest of us to leave our mark on the future.

—Leslie Coutts

Campus welcomes students for new school year

Campbellsville University welcomed back new and returning students when classes opened for the 1998 fall semester. Welcome Week activities kicked off Aug. 23 with Sunday Night Explosion in the University Theater. Several meetings and other activities continued throughout the week. Monday night the annual Welcome Back Dance got students out of the residence halls to socialize and get moving.

On Tuesday evening, the Baptist Student Union provided the evening meal with a Block Party on Stapp Hall lawn. The party featured an amusement park atmosphere with a huge inflatable slide and gladiator games. Following the Block Party, a large turnout formed in the University Theater for the popular Welcome Week activity, Fred Winters' Hypnotist Show. Winters chooses students from the audience to use when performing his spellbinding hypnotism.

Thursday was a special night, especially for new students. The New Student Reception gave all students an opportunity to visit with President and Mrs. Kenneth W. Winters in their home, the Betty Dobbins Heilman House. Friday night concluded the Welcome Week festivities with a special activity "Singled Out."

Freshman Week offers good time

Freshman Week featured a variety of activities including Movie Night, Hawaiian Karaoke Night, Freshman Auction, Male Review and the Baptist Student Union Picnic.

The senior class planned activities each night for incoming freshmen and new students. Two hundred to 300 students attended each activity.

'Making A Difference'

Campbellsville University celebrated "Making a Difference" for the 1998 Homecoming Oct. 9-11.

The Alumni Banquet Friday night was a special event for alumni and friends of the university. Charlotte Hammett, principal of Hammett Communications of Louisville, was the speaker.

Saturday's events began with the Homecoming Fest which offered booths for clubs and organizations to raise money. Alumni, friends and children enjoyed the games, food and music. Entertainment was provided by the Harlequins, who won most creative booth.

Saturday included the Tiger alumni baseball game, hot air balloon rides, a car show, many reunions and receptions, the Parade of Decades and the Memorial Service, two new events.

The Chorale alumni sang the National Anthem to kick off the Homecoming football game. The Fighting Tiger football team suffered a loss to North Greenville College, 34-41.

The halftime show featured the Tiger Marching Band, followed by the crowning of the 1998 Homecoming queen. Miranda Kassin was named queen and there was a tie for first runners-up between Leanne Quinlan and Shannon Close. Jessica Flener was selected as the freshman attendant. A Homecoming Dance concluded the festivities.

Leaving their mark

We, the yearbook staff, on behalf of the students and faculty of Campbellsville University, want to commend President Kenneth W. Winters for a job well done the past 10 years. We thank him for everything he has put into the university. We would also like to thank his wife, Shirley Winters, for her support of her husband in the choices he has made to help improve the campus and the quality of education we receive from the institution.

We know the past 10 years have definitely left a mark on the Winters. Whether Dr. Winters was “replaced” for a day or Mrs. Winters was hosting the reception for the new students, they will definitely be remembered for their generosity and love for the university and the CU family.

With the best of luck wished upon them, we send them a wonderful farewell as they enjoy their retirement. May we see them in the years to come just as blessed and happy as they have made the family of Campbellsville University.

The yearbook staff would like to dedicate this book to the Winterses in gratitude of a job well done. —Leslie Coutts

Clockwise from left: Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, president, stands proud in his regalia for the Heritage Day ceremony this year dedicating the new Gosser Fine Arts Center addition. Heritage Day was Sept. 16 at Campbellsville Baptist Church and the Gosser Fine Arts Center. Dr. Kenneth Winters and Shirley Winters could be found at most of the students' activities throughout the year. Here, they show their Hawaiian spirit at Hawaiian Karaoke Night in 1997. The Winterses embark on a new stepping stone in their life, retirement. They walk away from the school hand in hand and know they have proudly left their mark. Mrs. Winters leaves her mark in the driveway by an embedded strawberry for future presidents to enjoy for years to come.

Improvements were made under Dr. Kenneth W. Winters' leadership. South Hall East was constructed in summer 1995. One of the first projects Dr. Kenneth W. Winters undertook for Campbellsville College was the renovation of the Student Activities Center in 1990, top left. This year, the Science Building, top right, grew when a new addition was added. Carter Hall, left, was renovated and remodeled in July 1996 to give the Division of Humanities more classrooms and offices in addition to physics and computer labs. Steve Branscum, head of the Branscum Construction Co., Dr. Kenneth W. Winters and Dr. Paul Conco look at blueprints before the construction is finished. The sign on Stapp Lawn that said Campbellsville College was changed to reflect the "Four Seasons of Change" when the school became Campbellsville University. Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, bottom left, speaks at the 1996 Heritage Day ceremonies. During the 11 years under Winters' leadership, Campbellsville College grew 150 percent in enrollment and became Campbellsville University in 1996. A new sign at the entrance to the Maple Trail reflects the change.

CU adds new school structure

Campbellsville University has undergone significant changes this year by adding five new schools and also a College of Arts and Sciences. The new schools include the School of Music, School of Business and Economics, School of Education, School of Theology and the Carver School of Social Work.

Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, president of the university since 1988, said the new structure was one of the changes brought by going to university status.

Winters explained the reason for only one college and five schools was that the university is organized into one broad-based administrative academic unit which is the College of Arts and Sciences. The Schools are academic units which are narrow in scope and specialize in one curricular area.

The addition of these Schools and the College of Arts and Sciences has also brought about physical changes. The office of the vice president for academic affairs was moved across the hall in the Administration Building, while the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences moved into the office formerly occupied by Dr. Robert S. Clark.

The Offices of Admissions, Financial Aid and Continuing Studies (formerly Academic Outreach) was moved into the new Student Welcome Center, formerly the Music Annex.

Across the street from the Student Welcome Center is the Office of Student Services which was formerly located in the Student Activities Center. The Carver School of Social Work, with Dr. Walter Jackson as dean, is located adjacent to the Office of Student Services. Dr. Jerry Wilson is dean of the School of Theology.

Millie Barr, right, works with Dr. Richard Kessler at Clay Hill Memorial Forest. Barr, a graduate student, was setting up sampling sites for her middle school teaching unit. Clay Hill Memorial Forest was a gift of the late Joan White Howell and her family to Campbellsville University and the people of South Central Kentucky. The forest was established in 1996 to "promote environmental education on all levels, to foster opportunities for research, to demonstrate the potential for harmonious interaction between man and the environment and to preserve a valuable natural resource." Clay Hill Memorial Forest includes 135 acres and is on Old Lebanon Road in northern Taylor County.

Taylor honored for 'Religion in Life' class

Dr. G. Ted Taylor "Experiencing God" has changes. was recognized this year for teaching 1,000 students in his "Religion in Life" class over the past five years. The recognition was at Lifeway Christian Resources in Nashville, Tenn. Taylor's use of the book

"Experiencing God" has drawn nationwide attention and a visit from Dr. Henry Blackaby, the author. There have been 150 professions of faith in Christ from Taylor's classes with students experiencing God's love which has resulted in life changes. The popularity of the class can be seen through the changes in Taylor's course schedule. His enrollment has increased from 35 students per class to 45, while he instructs four classes now instead of two.

Events

Homecoming BSU Style

The annual Baptist Student Union's Dinner Theater was a success, according to Ed Pavy, director of campus ministries, as $900 was raised for summer missions. The theme was "Homecoming, BSU Style."

BSU took on a little different format this year for the performances by having all musical performances instead of mixing music with skits or puppet shows.

Shane Garrison asked several students to share their vocal talents. Rebecca and Rachel Pavy with Sarah and Hannah Daugherty sang as a quartet. Alicia Dukes sang a solo, as did Cager Thompson, campus ministries intern. A group of young men, calling themselves New Horizon, entertained the audience with their voices, and LaBreeska Hensley joined them in their last number. The BSU Praise Band led the audience in singing praises to the Lord as well. Matt Miller, BSU president, shared his testimony.

Pavy said there was a lot of student participation. There were 130 reserved dinner spots and 50-60 students who helped organize the evening.

Family Weekend

A time of fun, food and fellowship was held at the first Family Weekend Sept. 18-19. Families were able to enjoy a weekend on the campus of Campbellsville University with their Campbellsville son and/or daughter.

Students invited their parents, grandparents, sisters, brothers and other relatives to come to Campbellsville for the weekend to spend time with other parents and students, as well as tour the campus and learn more about student life. Each family was also given the opportunity to have a family photograph taken during the picnic on Friday afternoon.

Members of the Campbellsville University Student Foundation helped to prepare and serve the food for the picnic supper.

During the weekend, the Parents' Council also had its first meeting. The Parents' Council is a group, formed in 1998 by the Office of Alumni and Parent Relations, to offer parents the opportunity to become more involved in university activities. Leah Majors is president of the council.

Response to the event was tremendous, according to Mike "Sarge" Pollock, director of alumni and parent relations, which sponsored the event. Pollock said there are plans to hold Family Weekend again in fall 1999.

Holy spirit felt at revival

*M*ore than 200 people attended Campbellsville's fall revival each night. Throughout the week, there were at least 10 professions of faith and dozens of other decisions varying from recommitments to Christ to accepting the call to go into full-time ministry.

This year's speaker was Troy Dobbs, pastor of Main Street Baptist Church in Alexandria, Ky. His message was one of "revival through relationships." During the last service of the week, Dobbs asked the question, "What is it going to take to let the whole world know there is one God?" He explained this question by reading scripture from 1 Samuel 17 about David and Goliath.

According to Dobbs, it will take three things for the whole world to know that there is only one God — "guts, unity to not fight your brother but to fight the real enemy (Satan) and to tell people about the power that God can give people."

Ed Pavy, director of campus ministries, said, "The Holy Spirit was felt moving strongly throughout the services. Dobbs delivered messages right on target, things that those attending could relate to and needed to hear. Revival doesn't begin or end by services, but by prayer, and it continues through the hearts of people as they continue to follow the call of Jesus Christ in their lives and share the gospel."

The Baptist Student Union helped organize the event. Coordinator of BSU Leanne Quinlan said about the revival, "All I can say is God answers prayers!" — Parker Hill and Susan Wheeldon

Convo exposes students to ideas and concepts

Convocation is a time each week that students, faculty and staff gather for a time of worship, praise and exposure to a vast variety of topics and issues. Each year the convocation committee seeks recommendations for speakers or groups from students, faculty and staff. The committee attempts to bring speakers from backgrounds of every academic area on campus.

Convocation committee chair Dr. Mark Bradley said, "Convocation gives students, faculty and staff an opportunity to be exposed to a variety of ideas and concepts." Some of this year's convocation programs included music, politics, social issues and religion topics. Ed Pavy, director of campus ministries, said, "Convocation challenges students, faculty and staff to think beyond what they normally would and is a process of edifying the campus." — George Allen

Blood drives reflect cooperation

Campbellsville University takes part in three blood drives a year, according to Dr. Robert Doty, organizer of the drives.

Steven Yates of the American Red Cross said, "Not all colleges meet their goals or get anywhere near their goals. That really reflects how well your school cooperates with us."

Both in the fall of 1998 and the spring of 1999, Campbellsville's goal was 50 units, and both times volunteers donated blood to reach the goals. Eighteen percent of the 59 students who came to give blood Feb. 18, 1999, were first-time givers.

Yates also said that the Red Cross depends on schools to give blood because this gets the students into the habit of giving blood. When they start working, they can keep the habit of donating blood, he said.

Yates also said that most people are afraid to give blood because they don't know what blood type they are. By donating blood, this gives the donor a chance to see what their blood type is and also may constitute as a blood test to see if something is wrong with them without paying the doctor's prices to get blood drawn. Many pluses are involved in giving blood, he said, in addition to knowing you might be helping to save a life.

Heritage Day brings celebration and dedication

Heritage Day was celebrated this year Sept. 16 at Campbellsville Baptist Church to dedicate the new addition to the Gosser Fine Arts Center. Heritage Day has become a day, over recent years, to dedicate newly constructed or renovated buildings on campus. It is a day of reflecting from where we have come and where we are going. It is a day to marvel at our accomplishments and envision dreams of future plans for the institution. Students, faculty, staff, administration, alumni, family and friends share in the celebration.

In keeping with the focus of fine arts, Marilee Hebert-Slater, vice president for external affairs for the Kentucky Center for the Arts, gave the address.

Following Rimsky-Korsakov's "Procession of Nobles," played by the university's Concert Band, the celebration concluded with the dedication and ribbon-cutting ceremony in front of the new addition. Refreshments were served in the lobby outside the Gheens Recital Hall. Tours of the new addition were given by students of the music department. — George Allen

Dr. Richard Kessler and Janet Miller share thoughts during the ceremony. # Perry Creason is president

Perry Creason was voted by the student body to become the president of the university for a day.

All of the contenders for the prestigious honor of swapping schedules for the day with Dr. Kenneth W. Winters helped raise money for scholarships by asking students to buy a vote from them. Creason raised the most money, which gave him a definite lock on winning the honor of sitting at the president's desk.

The "President For a Day" is a function of the Student Foundation.

Both Winters and Creason enjoyed trading roles for the day, and all in all, neither will look upon the day in the life of a student and president as the same.

Starving for 30 hours...

Sixteen Campbellsville University students joined forces this spring to raise money by fasting for World Vision. "The project known as 30-Hour Famine is a fundraising activity usually done by high school youth groups, but we thought we could do just as well as high school students," said Amy Bauermeister. The proceeds from the fundraiser go worldwide to help with agricultural education, medical services and other financial and support programs both locally and worldwide.

The event included music, games and an educational video. Each of the participants was responsible for soliciting sponsors to donate money for every hour of fasting.

World Vision sends two people who raise the most money to one of the various countries they support to minister to the people first-hand. Campbellsville University's famine raised $645.

Christmas Memories

Christmas Celebration had many attendees of all ages. With the baseball and softball teams and the cheerleading squad serving the guests, along with the various performances, guests were well entertained and kept in the Christmas spirit.

Marc Whitt told the story of how his brother and he learned the real meaning of giving at Christmas. Mark Bradley led the singing of the ever popular "Twelve Days of Christmas" along with other favorite Christmas songs. The CU Singers performed after the always humorous puppets.

As the night wore on, people never tired of the Christmas memories shared and the reminiscing of other memories throughout the audience began.

The Student Government Association presented the annual Valentine Pageant Friday, Feb. 12, 1999.

Twelve candidates representing different clubs and organizations on campus participated in the pageant. Sherry Grider was named the 1999 Valentine Pageant Queen. She will represent Campbellsville University at the Mountain Laurel Festival in Pineville, Ky. Jessica Smith was named second runner-up, and Nicole Wells was named first runner-up. Ginger Shely was voted Miss Congeniality by her fellow participants, and Shely's escort, Brandon Warren, was voted Best Escort. Shely also won the Best Talent

'An Enchanted Evening'

The Student Government Association sponsored the last dance of the year, the Spring Formal. The dance is sponsored to give students the opportunity to dress up and have an experience similar to a high school prom.

"We had an excellent turnout," said Guy Melvin, SGA president. "Everyone seemed to have a good time, and we feel that it was one of the most successful dances of the year."

Victoria Alexander, a senior, also applauded the efforts of SGA. "This was one of the most attractive, well organized and successful dances I have seen in my four years at Campbellsville," she said.

The dance was in the Student Activities Center, and the theme was "An Enchanted Evening."

Gooooo Tigers! Two new game traditions were started this year, the Tiger claw and a pep rally to start out the season.

Two records were broken by Tim Mays, who was named the Mid-South Conference Offensive Player of the Week. The Tigers' all-time season rushing school record was made in 1993 by Rod Turpin, who rushed for 1,078 yards; Mays broke that record during the Tigers' victory over Union College, having rushed 1,216 yards up until then. At the finish of the season, he broke another of Turpin's records - his career rushing record.

Brandon Sidwell was awarded the game ball at the victory home game against Cumberland University. Head coach Ron Finley's love of the players and his words of encouragement helped get the Tiger players roaring: "God loves you, we love you. Go out and play to the utmost of your abilities. Don't leave anything on the field. And never, ever give up." Coach Eric Graves was named NAIA National Assistant Coach of the Year. "We're knit," said coach Herb Wiseman, concerning what makes the Fighting Tigers so special.

Going for the goal

Some goals were set, and some were met.

Quite a few firsts were achieved this season for the Campbellsville University men's soccer team. Gustavo Lopez set a record by being the first player ever to score 20 goals. The closeness of the team helped accomplish yet another first, according to head coach Dean Brownley; they were the first team ever to have 10 wins. Taking those wins to a higher level, they also had the first conference tournament win — a feat in itself.

Brownley, Mid-South Co-Coach of the Year, said the “never give up the game plan” attitude helped his team have a successful season.

As a means of encouragement, Brownley was often heard saying, “Tradition begins with you.”

Rebuilding for the goal

The Campbellsville University women's soccer team took on a rebuilding effort this season that will hold promise for the future of the Lady Tigers.

"We learned a great deal this season. The girls have adjusted well to a new system of play that I believe will bring success to the program," said Dan Bailey, first year head coach for the Lady Tigers.

Annie Whitley and Jennifer Lay were named to the Second Team All Mid-South Conference for their outstanding season play, Bailey said.

Several Lady Tigers were recognized as Mid-South Conference All-Academic including Amy Beck, Brandon Boyatt, Kelly Bryan, Shelby Bryan, Nola Fromm, Abbie Whitley, Annie Whitley and Kellie Williams. The Lady Tigers continue to lead the conference for the second year with the largest representation of All-Academic players.

Beyond the net

Lady Tiger volleyball Coach Beauford Sanders said that he couldn't have asked anything more of the team this year. With record wins of 13-18, his team finished third in the conference.

Injury was never a setback for these Tigers; they responded well and kept going. Their consistency of effort by giving their all is ultimately what passed them up through the conference, Sanders said. Sanders' most memorable moment of the season was against Cumberland College; the team was down by three, but bounced right back to make the win. "That game was a pivotal point in setting a mark by making them third in the conference," Sanders said. "I'm so proud of them."

Cross country goes to nationals for first time

The Campbellsville University men's and women's cross country teams participated in national competition for the first time ever this fall, by qualifying three runners to compete.

Will Hodges, Jason Hayes and Kuluna Masden represented Campbellsville at the NAIA National Cross Country Championships in Kenosha, Wis. Head coach Patty Rouse said of their performance, "They ran the best they could and as close to their times as they could have."

Hodges, a senior who competed in the national meet, said, "Nationals was a great experience, and being a senior, it was a good way to go out."

At the end of the season, Jackie Crowder and Will Hodges received Academic All-American honors. To receive these honors, runners must be a junior or senior, meet a qualifying time and have a GPA of 3.5.

In regional and conference competition, both the women's and men's teams placed higher than any previous year. In regional competition, the men placed third while the women placed fifth. The Tigers and Lady Tigers were Mid-South Conference runners-up. Jackie Crowder and Masden were given first team All-Conference honors.

"Both teams made a big improvement over last season. They stepped up and did everything that I asked of them, going above and beyond my expectations," said Rouse.

Tigers overcome challenges with great success

The Campbellsville University men's basketball team overcame great challenges to experience sweet success for the 1998-99 season.

The Tigers kept their focus despite eligibility difficulties with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA). They will be noted as one of the most outstanding teams in the history of Campbellsville University, ending their season with a final record of 28-3 and 10-2 in Mid-South Conference play. The Tigers turned many heads, defeating ranked teams including Georgetown College, Cumberland College and Lindsey Wilson College.

"I'm more proud of this year's team and season than any I've been a part of, coach or player," said head coach Travis Ford. "Through all the adversity we came to play every night. This season I will cherish forever."

Lady Tigers develop young talent for future

The Lady Tiger program took advantage of the 1998-99 season to develop young players for future success.

The Lady Tigers lost four starters from the 1997-98 squad including two All-Americans and redshirt Farrah Sullivan. Facing a tough schedule, they ended the season 16-14 overall and 9-3 in conference play. Despite improvement during regular season, the Lady Tigers experienced a disappointing loss to Lambuth University in Mid-South Conference semi-final play.

"The team proved that hard work and dedication does pay large dividends," said Tessa Tenpenny. "It is a team with a long winning tradition. It is now time to move up to another level."

New faces bring Tiger spirit

The Campbellsville University cheerleaders had an outstanding 1998-99 season. Following a previous Mid-South Conference title, the squad found itself in a year of development. The team returned with only six members and filled 12 spots. Crissy Caldwell was named Mid-South Conference Cheerleader of the Year. Kevin Ray was selected Mascot of the Year, and Robert Meacham and Crissy Caldwell were named All-Conference. The Tigers placed two stunts including first place, Robert Meacham and Jennifer Warren, and third place, Robert Judd and Crissy Caldwell.

Golfers' hard work pays off

The 1998-99 Campbellsville University Men's golf team proved that hard work and dedication pay off. The team brought home two major tournament wins this season against Transylvania University including the first title at the fall invitational at Tates Creek Golf Course and in the spring at Kearney Hills Golf Course.

Josh Matney was named All-Tournament three times, while Nathan Schepman received the honor twice. Nick Thompson and Adam Lawson were also named All-Tournament.

"This year's team is one of the best teams ever at Campbellsville. They are a very young team. Three of our top players are freshmen," said head coach Ted Taylor. Taylor will be stepping down as head coach after directing the team for five years. "I am so proud of this team. It has been a pleasure to coach them and end with a great season," said Taylor.

Tiger Baseball Team leaves respectable mark

The Campbellsville University Tiger baseball team went into the Mid-South Conference Baseball Tournament with high expectations.

The Tigers defeated Georgetown College 7-3 in the first round. In the second round, they faced 7th ranked and #1 seed Cumberland University which defeated CU 5-0. In the losers' bracket, CU was defeated by North Greenville College 7-6.

The team finished the 1998-99 season with 29-20 in overall play and 9-9 in the conference. The team lost its first game on the field and then had 14 straight victories.

Softball team doesn't settle for less

The Lady Tiger softball team did not settle for less in its 1998-99 season. The Lady Tigers did not settle for just a 500 season or a conference appearance. They battled to the end, challenging several ranked teams and earning a bid to the regional tournament.

The team finished the regular season with a 37-16 overall and a 19-11 conference record. They only posted four losses at home and had two winning streaks of six wins and eight wins. They closed out the season with the Mid-South Conference Tournament and the Mid-South Regional Softball Tournament.

In the MSC tourney, the team defeated Union College 5-1 in the first round game. The Lady Tigers lost to the #2 seed North Greenville College 6-2 in the next round. CU then won two straight by defeating Cumberland University (4-1) and Cumberland College (3-1).

Tennis team makes return

The Campbellsville University men's tennis team returned a strong performance for the 1998-99 season. The men's program has recently been involved in rebuilding its foundation. The squad had several additions for the spring season.

The men's team gained much needed experience on the court. Andy Rocha made semifinals of the men's number two seed singles and joined Brock Loy in doubles, also making semifinals for the Mid-South Tournament in Nashville, Tenn., April 19-20. The team had six members, Andy Rocha, Brock Loy, Nick Cook, Austin Prather, Bruce Warf and Leony Barroso participate in the conference tournament.

Tiger Sharks continue to eat up competition

The Campbellsville University men's and women's swim teams continued to stay on top of the competition in the 1998-99 regular season.

Outstanding swimming found the Tiger sharks breaking school records. Joyce Brandao broke the 200 butterfly and the 200 intermediate, Cassie Trotter broke the 50 freestyle, Carol Gois broke the 100 freestyle and Richard Blake broke the 200 and 500 freestyle records.

The women's squad also set new records in the 400 medley relay and the 400 freestyle relay. The records were set at the Bluegrass Mountain Invitational in preparation for nationals.

Swimmers win at nationals

Campbellsville University men's and women's swim teams competed in the NAIA National Swim Meet at the King County Aquatic Center in Federal Way, Wash.

Cassie Trotter garnered Campbellsville University its first national women's title, while Richard Blake won the third national title for the men, making it one title a year for the past three years.

Trotter, a freshman from Kamloops, British Columbia, Canada, won the first title in the Women's 100-Yard Backstroke the third day of competition. Trotter also finished third in the 50-

Yard Freestyle.

"I knew I was going to win before I got in the pool; I have to think I am going to win when I start the race or I won't do well," said Trotter.

Blake, a freshman from Southend, England, picked up the gauntlet for the men. Blake won the NAIA National Championship in the Men's 1650-Yard Freestyle and placed second in the 500-Yard Freestyle and third in the 200-Yard Freestyle.

"After about the first 500 yards (of the 1650-yard race), I thought there was no way anyone could catch me," Blake said. "It wasn't until the bell lap that I realized that no one was going to catch me."

"It makes it a little sweeter this year because the girls have a national championship title," Coach Dean Brownley said. "Now we have titles for both the men's and the women's teams."

Intramurals liven up campus activity

The 1998-99 school year brought about another year of competition for students. Campus student activities, directed by DeWayne Gibson, offered a variety of sports and recreation for the student body.

Some of the activities included touch football, powder puff football, billiards, ping pong, sand volleyball, 3-on-3 basketball, team basketball, movie nights, softball, tennis and par 3 golf tournament.

"Intramurals and campus activities offer the student body a chance to get away from the pressures of school and relax through participating with other students," said Gibson. Activities are planned throughout the school year to accommodate the schedules of busy students and to give all students a chance to participate in the sports of their choice.

The competition in intramurals seems to increase each year as former high school athletes and off-season athletes show their talent on the field and court.

Clubs and Organizations

FCM/CCC sets forth on a new adventure

With a mix of old and new leadership, Fellowship of Christian Ministries/Campus Crusade for Christ (FCM/CCC) set forth on a new adventure.

In its second year of Infinity + 3, the mission was to tell "those who had heard all their life and those who never heard, that they stand on equal ground before God." To try and reach all people, the club chose to minister in new and creative ways.

The club hosted different activities that encouraged and challenged people's faith. There was an '80s night when everyone was encouraged to come and remember those interesting clothing styles and music.

The clubs also challenged the campus to a new way of releasing their mid-term and finals weeks stress by hosting "Refrigerator Art" and

"Campus Wide Pillow Fight." They also demonstrated to the campus how it felt to be persecuted for your faith through the game "Underground Church."

In addition to these activities, FCM/CCC tackled topics that confront all of us each day such as how to handle stress and build relationships with others.

Most of all, FCM/CCC wanted God to receive all the glory and praise through these activities.

FCA asks

This year, Fellowship of Christian Athletes made it a goal to have unity and fellowship within the group.

The FCA services usually consisted of skits, speakers, testimonies and songs. Students led these activities with the speaker often coming from the outside area. One speaker that sparked the interest of many students was the Rev. Cameron Mills, former University of Kentucky basketball star, who spoke at the first FCA service of the year.

In November, the club helped at the high school FCA state convention, and in February members attended the College FCA convention.

FCA sported new T-shirts that displayed the unity of the club. The theme of the shirts was "Who rules your world?"

This theme is patterned after the Bible verse Joshua 25:15.

CWM sets out to help others

One of Campus Women on Mission's main goals this year was to help others. They did this in several ways. First, CWM worked with the Infant Resource Center in Louisville and assisted with BSU activities such as the Christmas party. They became involved in missions on campus, in the community, in the state, in the U.S. and in the world, by learning about them and praying for the missions.

Throughout the year, CWM wrote to and became pen pals with people in China, and prayer was very important among the 15 members of the group.

Throughout the year, Students in Free Enterprise (SIFE) were involved in many community projects. SIFE continued to make a difference in the lives of others. SIFE members participated in "Make A Difference Day," by visiting Metzmeier Nursing Home. The members took some pets for the residents, in hopes that their day would be brightened. SIFE make a difference in the lives of the members and people in the community through its outreach projects, various fundraisers and by working with community leaders with PRIDE (Personal Responsibility in a Desirable Environment) Week.

Sigma Tau Delta studies different styles of literature

Sigma Tau Delta is an International English Honor Society.

This year was the 75th anniversary for the national organization of Sigma Tau Delta, and Campbellsville's chapter of Sigma Tau Delta celebrated by starting the year with a booth at the Homecoming Festival. Their motto for the booth was "Making a Difference for 75 Years."

Sigma Tau Delta participated in a number of activities on and off campus. The organization sponsored trips to see many productions of plays throughout the year, and they also helped with the Conference on Christianity in Literature that was held on campus in April.

Sigma Zeta helps others

Sigma Zeta continued to help others throughout the year in many ways. Some of the community service projects included the Supplies Over Seas, a project that helps send unused medical supplies to underdeveloped countries, and a visit to the Kosair's Children Hospital in Louisville during the Christmas Holiday.

In March, Sigma Zeta members had the opportunity to attend the National Sigma Zeta Convention at Hillsdale College in Hillsdale, Mich.

Alpha Rho Tau gives the city a lasting memorial

Alpha Rho Tau members worked hard this year on several projects. One project that impacted the community was painting the mural on the wall at Miller Park.

There are approximately 20 members in this organization, and it is open to anyone interested in art. The club has done such projects as selling Valentine cookies, a face painting booth at Homecoming and a juried student art show at the end of the spring semester. The club also visited the Parthenon in Nashville, the Speed Museum in Louisville and the Museum of Art in Cincinnati.

Academic Teams improve

The Academic Teams had a competitive year. The Division I team began the season with performances at Georgetown and at the Lexington Community College tournament, according to advisor Mary Taylor Huntsman. They were only second to the University of Kentucky at the tournament. They also placed third at the home tournament and second at Pikeville College.

The second half of the season had its ups and downs. There were some high finishes at Shawnee State University and Cumberland College, then some low finishes at tournaments at Eastern Kentucky University and Elizabethtown Community College.

Division II had a building year, with performance improving steadily as the team gained confidence. Other league teams said that Campbellsville had a friendly, outgoing and enthusiastic Division II team, Huntsman said.

Campbellsville University Singers leave their mark on the lives of others

The Campbellsville University Singers performed on many occasions throughout the year, but most importantly, they prepared themselves for the task of ministering to others throughout the summer of 1999. The members travel every summer singing at churches and other places, using this opportunity to touch lives by ministering through their music. The CU Singers performed at numerous campus activities including the Christmas Celebration, Valentine Pageant and the BSU Dinner

Theater.

Handbell Choir goes on annual tour in Kentucky

The Campbellsville University Handbell Choir performed with the University Chorale on a tour throughout Kentucky in the spring. Several concerts were held throughout the year at churches and schools. Also, in late May, the group went on the European tour with the University Chorale to Italy.

Selections performed included "How Excellent is Thy Name," "Psalm 46," "Give Me Jesus," "Lord Lord," "Cry Out and Shout" and "Beulah Land."

Scapino performs on the university stage

An added bonus to the CU stage this year was the student production of Scapino. The play follows the exploits of the servant, Scapino, as he reconciles relationships, takes revenge and causes much mayhem while having a lot of fun (going so)!

Harlequins bring the stage to life

The Harlequins grew this year, not only in membership size, but also in the number of productions. "All the world is a stage..." and the Harlequins made the most of it with a total of four productions rather than the traditional three. In the fall, two student-led performances brought life to the stage in "The Fantasticks" and the Italian comedy "Scapino." The spring term featured the annual children's play, "Alice in Wonderland" and the spring musical, "Godspell."

— Susan Wheeldon & Kenda Shugart

Clockwise, Russ Mobley, Alex Parrish and Steven Bishop approach a group of people as they tour the Homecoming festivities. The Harlequins received "most creative" at the Homecoming festivities. Their poem recitations and fancy duels held the crowd's attention. Harlequin members are, from left: Jennifer Edwards, secretary/treasurer; David Smith; Kim Berry; Amy Shields; Emily Culp, sergeant at arms; Robyn Beck; Apryl Searcy and Aaron Linne, mascot. Members not pictured include Parrish, president; Bishop, vice president; Ginger Shely; Victoria Alexander; Tiffany Shoffner; and Billy Maupin. In a scene from "The Fantasticks," Jennifer Edwards and Steven Bishop stop and listen for the boy's father. They know they have been caught together. Emily Culp stands silent in the background.

'The Fantasticks' is fantastic

This year's fall play was a success, according to Russ Mobley, director of theater. The play was performed by Campbellsville University students and was directed by Mobley, with Alex Parrish as his student assistant. The play, "The Fantasticks", was about a young boy, played by Steven Bishop, and a young girl, played by Jennifer Edwards. The children's fathers, played by David Smith and Aaron Linne, try to keep the teenagers from falling in love, but they really want them to fall in love. They are hoping that their separation will bring them together.

The play was performed three nights, with a full house on opening night.

Clockwise, Aaron Linne, left, and David Smith, who played the parts of the fathers, sing "Never Say No." Jennifer Edwards, left, and Steven Bishop hold each other tightly, not wanting the time to pass, as they played the characters of the young boy and girl. The song is about telling your children no and then them going behind your back and doing it anyway. Johnny Warren narrates during the play while Aaron Linne, Jennifer Edwards, Steven Bishop and David Smith freeze model in the background.

Alice in Wonderland is a production that allows the audience, both young and old, to use its imagination. The production was held Feb. 25-27 in the University Theater with several matinee performances prior to opening night. A crowd packed the theater, making it a full house each night. Russ Mobley, director of theater who produced the play, said, "I think it was obvious from the quality of the production that great amounts of time were put into it, by both cast and crew to make the show a great success."

Godspell tells the Gospel of Matthew

The play, Godspell is a musical version of the Book of Matthew from the Bible. Russ Mobley, director of theater, describes the play as a "celebration of music, dance and dialogue."

"To see the parables and teachings of Jesus in a dramatic context with dancing and music is a thrilling experience," Mobley said. Godspell was performed April 22-24 in the University Theater.

Mission: Spring Break

While most students were enjoying a much-awaited Spring Break, others spent time off from school participating on various mission trips. The Baptist Student Union sent 78 students and staff from the Office of Campus Ministries on eight mission trips over the break. The trips included El Dorado, Ariz.; Dayton, Ky., (with PARTNERSHIP 2000); Cleveland, Ohio; Arlington, Texas; Pensacola, Fla.; Panama City, Fla.; Northern Ireland; and Boston, Mass.

John Ruth, at far right, also participated with them.

What did you learn from participating on the trip?

"This trip taught me to be very appreciative of what I have, and I also learned not to be afraid to share the Gospel with others, because I would rather have others reject me, than reject Christ."

— Dana Jenkins, freshman, trip to Cleveland, Ohio

"I learned that all people are different and we all have to work together to get something accomplished. God blessed our group abundantly when we came together."

— B.J. Hill, sophomore, trip to El Dorado, Ark.

"I learned how just making someone smile can be a ministry, how lucky we are as Americans, and how influential as Americans we can be to other cultures. I also learned that blue-collar love is important for everyone to have."

— Aaron Linne, freshman, trip to Northern Ireland

"I learned that unity is absolutely necessary, and keeping our focus on our ministry and purpose is a must."

— Alicia Graham, sophomore, trip to Pensacola, Fla.

"We learned that as a team, we can't outgive God."

— Jonathan Johnston, junior, trip to Covington, Ky.

"I learned that God can use anybody to do anything if they're willing to obey Him."

— Will Holland, senior, trip to Panama City, Fla.

"I learned that all children, no matter what their race is or their background, just need to be loved."

— Carrie Caldwell, sophomore, trip to Arlington, Texas

Campbellsville University's student body is made up of a wide variety of students of all ages from all around the world. Twenty-four foreign countries are represented at the university, with a total of 90 students. The largest group of international students is from Brazil, with a total of 53 students. There are 32 U.S. states represented at the university.

Not only is CU attended by a large number of foreign students and students from states other than Kentucky, but there is also a large group of non-traditional students attending the institution. These students are anyone seeking an undergraduate degree who is over the age of 25. There are 383 non-traditional students on campus.

The diversity of the campus offers the students a chance to learn first-hand knowledge of other cultures, customs and ways of life.

— Kenda Shugart & Susan Wheeldon

"I like being here. We learn every day about a different culture, another language and about other customs. We become more mature being away from home."

— Fernanda Bertha, sophomore, Brazil

"After being out of school awhile, coming back to school was hard at first. But with God's help and perseverance, it has been a wonderful experience — not only to get an education, but to fellowship with the students and faculty. It's been terrific."

— Paula Walston, senior, non-traditional student

"When I visited Campbells-ville for the first time, I couldn't get over the feeling that this was the friendliest place I'd visited. I knew I'd fit in as part of the family at Campbells-ville. This campus is a very special place centered on Christ; it is definitely my home away from home."

— Robert Meachem, sophomore, Nevada

"These have been the best four years of my life. The friends and the people I have come in contact with have had a great influence on my life."

— Roxana Moldoveanu, senior, Romania

"I think my experience at CU has been great. It has given me self-confidence, and has helped me see that I can do things I didn't think I could do."

— Peggy Humphress, senior, non-traditional student

Lyndsay Mulhall and Todd Boling are honored with the titles of Mr. and Miss Campbellsville University.

Mr. & Miss Campbellsville

"It's a humbling feeling, and I don't feel worthy of the title."
— Todd Boling

"I don't feel I deserve it. If anybody has seen any good in me it's because of Jesus in my life."
— Lyndsay Mulhall

From the editor

This year we decided to keep a traditional cover, yet blend it with a modern inside. I think we have accomplished what we wanted to achieve. I am pleased to give you the 1999 yearbook with its theme of “Leaving Our Mark.”

I am leaving my mark on Campbellsville University as yearbook editor. I have learned a lot and enjoyed being here. I hope that you enjoy looking at the yearbook as much as I have enjoyed putting this publication together.

I am moving on and turning the yearbook over to Aaron Linne, who is willing to learn and will enjoy putting himself on the line to bring you, the reader, what you want to see in your yearbook.

In surveys from last year, you asked for more diversity, and I included two pages of diversity. I know there is more diversity than two pages in a yearbook, that’s what makes our campus so special and unique. You asked for something on dorm life, I added a page of dorm life, but you just can’t put a whole year’s worth of life in a dorm into one page either. Those of us who live in a dorm know this. I hope the friendships made throughout the year are captured in these 224 pages.

The closeness of the CU family and the activities that bring us closer together are included. I hope, as you flip through and gaze at the pages, you find memories that bring the school closer to you and that you leave your mark.

Thanks to those of you who loaned us pictures, who identified pictures and who gave us your words for our pages. Thanks for a wonderful year of support and for making memories that make our campus so fun to be on during the days and sometimes even the nights.

laugh as Jason Atkins proudly displays his Christmas gift of Play-Doh at a party at Stan and Joan McKinney's.
"What is this?" Andy Rocha seems to
George Allen sing Christmas carols during the staff Christmas party. Haydn Burke looks through the filed contact sheets. Luiz Rosa, a photographer from Brazil, speaks during the Church Relations Council meeting.
Sports writer Jackie Guerin smiles big as she hugs her new stuffed bear she got at Christmas.

Farewell to the Winters

At top right, Dr. Kenneth W. Winters and his wife, Shirley Winters, share a smile after both received honorary doctorates during the graduation ceremonies Saturday. Winters received an honorary doctorate of law; Mrs. Winters received an honorary doctorate of public service. At left, after performing Winters' signature tie cutting magic trick on Dr. Kenneth W. Winters, Dottie Davis receives a high five.

Colophon

The 1999 Maple Trail was published by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. One thousand one hundred and fifty copies of the Maple Trail, volume 71, were published. The 9 x 12-inch book contains 224 pages which include eight pages of full color.

The cover is Skivertext. The design is a maroon silkscreen. The endsheets are standard maroon stock. The claw is a diecut provided by Taylor Publishing Company.

Body copy is 16 point Seville font; captions are 12 point Eric Italic font; photo credits are 12 point Rinna font. Headlines are 42 point Seville Bold font except for dividers and other special pages that are designed for larger point or different type. Subheads are Seville Italic 12 point. The publication was submitted to Taylor Publishing Company on disks using Taylor's UltraVision software.

Photographs were submitted by the photographers in the Office of Public Relations and Marketing, the "Central Kentucky News-Journal" staff, as well as faculty, staff and students from Campbellsville University.

Class portraits were taken by Delmar Studios of Bardstown, Ky.

Two students, an editor and a photographer received performance grants for their work. The other writers, photographers and office assistants were work-study students, interns and volunteers in the Office of Public Relations and Marketing.

Student classifications were determined by records from the Office of Student Records. The Office of Information Services provided assistance with network problems.

We thank the Taylor software support center in Dallas for helping us throughout the year with our questions and problems. We also appreciate the kindness and patience of Jerry Steely, our customer service representative at Taylor. We appreciate their help.

The Maple Trail is free to all full-time students. We appreciate Campbellsville University's financial commitment allowing us to offer this memory book free to the students.

Hugh Black, our year-book representative and friend, is always available for guidance and support. We appreciate that support and help. Black and his wife, Carol, of Louisville, are special people, and we consider them part of the Maple Trail staff. Thanks for the delicious candy at Christmas, Mr. Black!
